ABOUT THE COLLEGE

AECS Maaruti College of Nursing was established in the year 2002 by Shri R. Venkatesh and Smt. V. Geetha Devi under the aegis of the Amrith Educational and Cultural Society (AECS). The college offers programs including General Nursing and Midwifery (GNM), Basic B.Sc. Nursing, Post Basic B.Sc. Nursing, and M.Sc. Nursing. Affiliated with Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences, Bengaluru and recognized by the Indian Nursing Council and Karnataka Nursing Council, the institution follows a curriculum that integrates classroom learning with extensive clinical exposure, equipping students with the knowledge, confidence, and ethical values required in today's healthcare environment. The college provides facilities including INC-mandated laboratories, skill-training facilities, a library and digital resources, computer and AV facilities, clinical training opportunities, seminars, community outreach, NSS activities, sports, and student-development programs.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

In contemporary nursing research, a combination of quantitative and qualitative approaches is increasingly important, as it enables researchers to combine measurable evidence with patients', families', and healthcare professionals' experiences, thereby supporting evidence-based practice and more holistic healthcare decision-making. However, inadequate awareness of research ethics and AI tools, pressure to publish, and competing interests may contribute to challenges such as plagiarism, duplicate publication, inappropriate authorship, data manipulation, and conflicts of interest. Hence, the conference aims to empower emerging researchers and academicians with mixed-methods approaches and promote ethical, transparent, and responsible research and publication practices in the era of artificial intelligence.

OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

- To overview nursing research concepts
- To equip researchers to integrate qualitative and quantitative approaches in nursing studies
- To understand the role of artificial intelligence in contemporary research
- To assess the ethical practices, responsible use, and potential challenges associated with the application of Artificial Intelligence tools in academic research.
- To develop an understanding of scientific paper writing, submission, and publication practices
- To enhance scholarly communication skills
- To create awareness about plagiarism and academic integrity
- To develop skills in proper citation practices and accurate reporting of research findings
